

Michael McGuire

"Northwest Passage"

Visit "Northwest Passage" on MotoLyrics.com

NORTHWEST PASSAGE

Â© Electric Babylon Music Author: M.M.

Come onboard this phantom ship, heading for the new worlds shore,

gonna be an historical trip, youÂ'll know what your heartbeats for, donÂ't need to bring nothing along, a good wind is all we need, gonna sing a sailors song, gonna follow our visions lead.

From the farthest star to the closet soul, from your own back yard to the first black hole, across a galaxy of space and time, from your

farthest thoughts into your mind.

Give it up find your way, tomorrow is a higher price, thereÂ's a ship

leaving everyday, that will take you to your paradise, blow your horn

bang your drum, blow a kiss to the rainbow, this is it kingdom come,

leaving now here we go.

From the farthest star to the closet soul, from your own
back yard to

the first black hole, across a galaxy of space and time,
from your

farthest thoughts into your mind.

Keeping faith is like keeping time, but what happens when time is gone, sail now by the sailors rhyme, sail straight into the dawn, gonna sit and just watch us go, this world is tit for tat, you cant know if you never know, are you so sure the earth is flat.

From the farthest star to the closet soul, from your own
back yard to

the first black hole, across a galaxy of space and time,
from your

farthest thoughts into your mind.

july 90

