PAIN PILLS

Â© Electric Babylon Music Author: M.M.

A mythical creature rides out of the breath of rain, it's bloodshot eyes

fixed on the carrier signal of my pain, like a rainbow cancer that numbs

the wires with electricity, a strangers kiss that kills so erotically.

These pain pills are killing me, but they're doing it so painlessly.

I'm a gunshot wound in the side of the thunder, the missing link in the pseudo science of wonder, the fits and jerks of the traffic of my substance shaping, a doomsday device thru the metal detector of my miracle making.

These pain pills are helping me, but they're doing it so helplessly.

It has come to pass that my soul has a heartache, but this heliocentric

reality leaves me in its retrograde wake, and so meaning finds its mate in oblivion's arithmetic, and like the weatherman of the gods I remain so apathetic.

Cant blame the doctor for your addition, cant blame science for all this science fiction, cant blame yourself for what you cant control, cant make your pain the warden of your soul.

These pain pills are healing me, but they're doing it so hurtfully.

When they're gone there will be no refill, when they're gone maybe I can begin to heal.
