

Michael McGuire

"Stranger Than A Stranger"

Visit "Stranger Than A Stranger" on MotoLyrics.com

Shave head prisoner, who you are the I in them, feeble knowledge and architects pride, living the ridicule of rainbow whim, under glass particular light, infinite test tube one night stand, look hard at never always, bloody knuckle door key in hand.
Stranger than a stranger, familiar to the touch, more dangerous than danger, you pretend to mean so much.
Trapped in moody dreaming skull, leaky faucet babbles in-articulation, the crime confession; gravediggers mask, polite chit chat excommunication, magician believes; world hat trick, it's all sundown and sea-breeze doubt, subtlety of understanding in ghostly molecules, when the dream is in the dreamer's out.
Stranger than a stranger, familiar to the touch, more
dangerous than
danger, you pretend to mean so much.
The weight will pull you down to weightlessness, in the gravity zero plain you will validate your mess, and you will feast upon the image as you and them undress, and you will wonder that much and more can seem so little and less, love; the apocalypse of definitions, the someone behind the something somewhere, source of gravity un-think the thinker, inevitable motion that always ends up there, infinite teller say what you mean, light pass context of seer undone, mystical despair the hunters hallow hunt, all of nothing many of one.
Stranger than a stranger, familiar to the touch, more
dangerous than
danger, you pretend to mean so much.

Visit Michael McGuire page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

