

Michael McGuire "What I Meant To Say"

Visit "What I Meant To Say" on MotoLyrics.com

You were in the process of defining your faults, or maybe you were trying to establish mine, I think only enemies know what friends are for, they could set around for hours listening to each other whine.
And I said that's alright I understand how you must feel, but what I meant to say was f*** you.
You try to be more than human but your somewhat less than an angel, but your judgement becomes so judgmental, and your actions just seem to erase your words, and any goodwill seems to be purely accidental.
I said I'm sorry I never meant to hurt you but I'll be here if you want to talk about it, but what I meant to say was f*** you.
I bared my soul and you mistook it for my ego, you bared your contempt and I mistook it for love, I gave you more than you could ever figure out how to pay back, you the only hawk in the sky that thinks it's a dove.
And said it's alright I understand life can really get you down, but what I meant to say was f*** you.
I handed out hope and inspiration like it was candy, and I never wanted anything tangible in return I just thought you were my friends, but you thought with your feelings and judged a no win situation, and that's how all good things and forever ends.
And I thought well maybe I've done something wrong maybe it's all my fault, but what I meant to think was f*** you.

Visit Michael McGuire page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

