MxPx
"Set The Record Straight"

Visit "Set The Record Straight" on MotoLyrics.com

Did we ever have an understanding?
Did we ever have anything at all?
Not that I recall

You were never really there for us
But then we were never really there for you, it's true
The rest is up to you

You say it's wrong, it's right
You say we won't, we might
We thought about it twice tonight

And if we don't seem to broken hearted
That's because were glad we've parted
I think we've had enough for two

Well, I believe in second chances
I believe this world is gonna end
But I would do anything to set the record straight
If you would believe, if you'd believe

Will someone think about the heartbreak?
Will someone realize there has been a mistake?
And give back all you take

No one really cares enough to listen
No one really cares enough to rationalize
Just believe the lies

Well, I believe in second chances
I believe this world is gonna end
But I would do anything to set the record straight
If you would believe, if you'd believe

Did we ever have an understanding?
Did we ever have anything at all?
Not that I recall

You were never really there for us
But then we were never really there for you, it's true
The rest is up to you

Well, I believe in second chances
I believe this world is gonna end
But I would do anything to set the record straight
If you would believe, if you'd believe
If you'd believe, if you would believe
If you would believe, if you'd believe
If you'd believe, if you would believe