Drawing closer, end of days, with much still left undone.
Even as I turn this phase, the end has now begun.
History is history, tomorrow never comes.
Today's the only day we have, and now the day is
done.

Waiting for the world to end
Searching for the signs, devastation right on time.
Waiting for the world to end.
Ignoring what's been said, blind to rivers running red.
The doc did what he could, but we've lost too much blood.

Large staring eyes that love surprises,
The silence before sunrise, when you've paid the
highest prices,
it's too late to open your eyes.
History is history, tomorrow never comes.
Today's the only day we have, and now the day is
done.

Waiting for the world to end
Searching for the signs, devastation right on time.
Waiting for the world to end.
Ignoring what's been said, blind to rivers running red.
The doc did what he could, but we've lost too much...

The blood in my veins burnin aflame. (over and over)

Waiting for the world to end
Searching for the signs, devastation right on time.
Waiting for the world to end.
Ignoring what's been said, blind to rivers running red.

Waiting for the world to end
Searching for the signs, devastation right on time.
Waiting for the world to end.
Ignoring what's been said, blind to rivers running red.

All creation will collide and then begin again.
