I see you want me back, but sense is what you lack Tried to put my fires out once to often
Now you know theirs no matches left

Your long legs and high heels fool all the other guys
But they don't fall me, I'll see you upstairs

I got a tattoo that reminds me of you
But you know I could never, could never stay true
Deep down in my thoughts I got a lot of locked doors
Now your trying to get in with all the wrong keys

Now you want me back, oh well baby
Your evil ways can't get to me, I'll see you upstairs

I'll let the sax do the talking
I'll see you upstairs

With the drums of your heart still beating
Beating to the rhythm of your love
Is this a nervous breakdown? Or are your lies and extension of your diablo ways

But have you come to your senses in time?
Just take of your clothes and put them next to mine

Oh yeah, I'll see you upstairs
