“The Indecision Complex”

Recently you seem somewhat convinced on what is happening

Well anyone could disagree to disagree
But what’s the point in that

So avoid this diversion just
Act indecisively
What you’re about to see will contradict itself

The silence that I vowed
Is breaking its word now
Is there a purpose to these earthly things?

The silence that I wore
Sheltered my own flaws
Why am I foolishly bound by these things?
Or am I just imagining?

See them often hide behind the walls that they’ve constructed here
A signal and a sign to keep your enemies outside but awfully close

So avoid this diversion just
Act indecisively
What you’re about to see will contradict itself

The silence that I vowed
Is breaking its word now
Is there a purpose to these earthly things?

The silence that I wore
Sheltered my own flaws
Why am I foolishly bound by these things?
Or am I just imagining?

An illustration of....
A constant reminder of where I’ve been.
