You've got me running out the back door while you hold it down. So smooth as you make the moves like you've got it all figured out. If we only knew the potential of a night like that, I'd say forget the confidential and meet me out back.

Like a candle we're going to burn this down, so take your things and get the hell out of town. Cuz I know we're better than this. I know we're better.

Believe me, look this way.. Before I forget just how to say, I want to taste another night on my tongue I can feel it in my breathe and in my lungs.

Like a candle we're going to burn this down, so take your things and get the hell out of town. Cuz I know we're better than this. I know we're better.

I won't let this drift away cuz today is the day we make it out okay. So take my hand, cuz here we go!

Like a candle we're going to burn this down, so take your things and get the hell out of town. Cuz I know we're better than this. I know we're better.
