I don't know where I am and I don't know what to do
Everything is so unreal
And I'm losing sight of you
And it's so unfair
When I'm stuck here in this despair
My future's gone nowhere
The best laid plans destroyed so quietly
No one to blame except me

This is the rest of your life
You start tomorrow
Don't know where you lost the time
Drown your sorrows
Feels like you never had a choice
You're cold and alone
You've always been afraid to raise your voice
But not tomorrow

A few short weeks
To tear apart your life
And I don't know if I'll reach the other side
If I see you when we're both 35
What will have become of both our lives

Don't let anyone get in your way
You'll watch the future fade
And then your friends all move away and you've got nothing
You stop and wonder where it all went wrong
In November
Try and get back up onto your throne
You won't remember

Have you ever felt things slip away
You just can't hold on
Take a breath and sink beneath the waves
You can't stop yourself
It's too late when you wake up one day
See your reflection
Work a deadend job for shitty pay
And have no lover

And what's worse you saw this coming
But you stood by and did nothing
Change your ways while you're still young
Study hard and try and have some fun
Hold on to the things that make you proud
And never let the money get you down

When you see her don't forget to smile
You had some fun, and you're just in denial
You can always leave if you're so brave
Quit your job and take the holiday
And start your life again

A few short weeks to tear apart your life
And I don't know if I'll reach the other side
When you see me when I'm 35
We'll find out if I could save my life
From mediocrity
