I tell myself to hold on tight
Any day now it'll be all right
Thought I loved enough for two
Even believing won't make it true

One heart waits, while one heart breaks
I swear I've given more than I can take
You're in my arms, but out of my hands
I've got someone to hold, but not to have
And it hurts so much to want someone
So bad

Am I a fool-to wait for you
I keep pushing for you to pull me through
A little taste of love is a bitter pill
I can't make it without you
No, I never will

One heart waits, while one heart breaks
I swear I've given more than I can take
You're in my arms, but out of my hands
I've got someone to hold, but not to have
And it hurts so much to want someone
So bad
What can I do to make you want me too
The way that I'm wanting you now
Because what I don't see you when you look at me
I'm trying to change somehow
Please tell me how

One heart waits, while one heart breaks
I swear I've given more than I can take
You're in my arms, but out of my hands
I've got someone to hold, but not to have
And it hurts so much to want someone
So bad

One heart waits, while one heart breaks
I swear I've given more than I can take
You're in my arms, but out of my hands
I've got someone to hold, but not to have
And it hurts so much to want someone

So bad
