Hold on and sit real still
Thru a driving rain
That turns my wheel
Why, you sure do turn me on

Turned on and sure do feel
Like a long, dark road
Dirt got no hill
My heart done gone and lost its will

Lay down, find comfort in Strong arms that
Hold you to till the end
Steal a kiss, then, thrower into the wind

And then go back
Where you come from
Safe and warm to the only one
One who truly yearns for you

Hold on, lie real still
Smell the rain
Top the hill
Why, you sure do turn me on

Turned on in a field of green
Sweet blades of grass (Removed with)
Rain washed clean
And my heart is so filled with will

Lay down, Lay down
Lay down, Lay down
