There was a time, I wore my heart on my sleeve,
I was a little bit green, about everything.
Had my back against the ropes,
Had my share of shattered hopes,
Believe me I know, what losing means.

Hard times put me to the test.
But I aint been beat down yet.
I won't give in, I will not rest.

Cause I see a new day dawning on the far horizon
I see white doves flying over fields of green.
Like a Phoenix from the oceans rising,
I can see beyond my broken dreams.

Deep down inside I feel a new kind of strength,
Somehow empowering me.
Ever since I found you,
The whole world spun around you.

Now I know what true love means.

I'm coming out of this hard luck haze,
To better nights and brighter days.
Ever since I saw your face.

I see a new day dawning on the far horizon
I see white doves flying over fields of green.
Like a Phoenix from the oceans rising,
I can see beyond my broken dreams.

Cause I see a new day dawning on the far horizon
I see white doves flying over fields of green.
Like a Phoenix from the oceans rising,
I can see beyond my broken dreams.
