n every step that you take there's no time to regrets of setting your goals on try to get what your waiting for

Is this really what you want? or it's her voice talking in your mind, it gives you the chance to make things right Just take some time before explode never forget your reasons move on so fast is not enough it has not been your best choice

I'm not willing to waste my words to fix something that seems lost

In every step that you take there is always someone to live, to fight, to go, find what is better for you Don't let anyone to speak for you don't forget who you are remember what you leave behind You know they..re comming for you, start pray taking your time is not safe...again we are waiting for the moment, are you? so grab what you care about, and run!!

Just take your time

it has not been your best choice
