Told my friends that I've had too much
Take me home and to lock me up
I'm a threat and I've had enough
Wait, just wait

Then they bathe me in a crown of thorns
As if the night had not been hard on us
As I make comfort of the bathroom floor
Wait, just wait

Why am I an Honest Man?
if I can't get a dollar for my pain
Why am I an Honest Man?
If I can't waste a minute on your name
Why am I an Honest Man?
If the world's going to knock me on my face
Why am I an Honest Man?
If I can't get a dollar for my pain

This is how I wish the end could be Filled with torment and dirty dreams
As the room keeps spinning round me
Stay, just stay

I am waiting at your back door
Wondering why
Somehow the end must come to this
