"The Game"

Lets take the time to find out whats inside
Away from all this wind and rain
The six arrive, the fire lights their eyes
Invited here to learn to play
The Game

We travel blind and feel along the walls
And barely know from where we came
The paths divide the players from the rules
But were the ones who chose to play
The Game

Lets take the time to find ourselves again
Away from daily stress and pain
Though we may find well not come back the same
That happens sometimes when we play
The Game
