Tell me baby girl where did you sleep last night while I was Moping around wondering without a sheep in sight

Bout the way your body moves smooth touch with his caress from the ripples on your nipples to the freckles on your chest

Tell me Lady love how could you sleep at night while your conscience firmly whistled were you up all night

Or was your salted whore-drenched sweat enough to clear your mind scratching on his chest thieving swift our times

I could walk a thousand times wrapped around my thoughts avoiding our demise

Cant help but feel uneasy this feeling is so uneasy
cant help but feel uneasy

Why do you catch an attitude I was waiting around for you things always seem to go one way and I don't need this but i cant fight it

Tell me dirty girl how could you sleep at night with his smell upon your chest and his stench from holding you tight

I wont sleep alone through another moon I wont soak in his cologne
IM NOT YOUR FOOL

Things always seem so easy to turn away from

Every time im singing his you're sinning I cant seem to turn away from the one thing I must run away from

I'm tired of these lies and this stupid compromise do you realize girl when you're breathing down my neck and its hard to tell the truth when I try to let you go you cry me a river and beg me not to go

But i need a friend someone there with their own life only to be a friend not worried about emotions getting caught and tied

My eyes they stumble to keep me from falling down down down down with my head from off the ground

Something is coming around my way and I just cant be tied down baby good things are coming around my way and I got to let you go I cant seem to walk
