fuck it!

On that night we walked for hours as if there was no end in sight it's killing me to tell you this right now we'd glide through life together ignoring all passers by was just killing myself believing in you

Challenge me
coz I need this task
disgard my inhibitions
you took all you wanted
destroyed with such precision

Still coping with the aftermath and salvaging the remains that are left now living different lives on familiar ground you fade into the distance as dark consumes the light

destroyed with such precision

Wish me luck
