"First Comes Love"

I'm a simple man living a complex life
I did a whole lot of things all wrong before I learned them right
The first time I felt like a man was in the eye of a storm
Watching the woman I love feeding our first born

Knowbody knows about the here and after
What really does and doesn't matter
The questions tough but the answer's simple enough...
First comes love, first comes love....
Take a good long look at her body, she's built by God...
Sent a charge right through my soul like a lightning rod...
But time has a way of beating down passions flame
It comes on strong & wild, then it get's real tame
