Alright I'm wrong, your answer fits.
In fact New York's the opposite.
A pocket guide on third and B, You waste my time so casually.

We could be happier sitting alone, at a bar on the corner, where all the Kids go.
Then when you say that you need something more, it reminds me of all of the Girls from before.

And you, you don't fight fair (tit tit tit)
So I'll be off somewhere (tit tit tit tit tit tit)

Agoraphobia

Tonight I'm right. You're shirts, I'm skins.
The lies you tell I'm covered in.
Remember candle light and waiting for the rolls to settle in.

Maybe it's time for a change when relationships bloom
from a bag that you Bought on the corner. Counterfeit feelings have lowered the ceilings. I'm Right where I was. I'm leaving because...

You, you don't fight fair (tit tit tit)
So I'll be off somewhere (tit tit tit tit tit tit)

Agoraphobia

You work longer hours. I stop taking showers.
Home alone and drinking. Throw the kitchen sink in.
No more sexy breakfast. Modify the set-list.
You can keep the toaster. I will be the one paying alimony.
