You've been all but trampled now
The hope is gone and you don't know how
The love there was is lost and you're alone
Words that shouldn't have were spoken
Hearts are sadly badly broken
Sorrow felt like none you've ever known

It will be (oh)
Wait and see
It will be when you least expect it
Wait and see it will be electric

How are you supposed to weather this
Where is the love and the tenderness
Security and the warmth you thought you'd found
While it's so dismal in your universe
And I'm not in it to make matters worse
I can go but know I'll wait around

It will be (oh)
Wait and see
It will be when you least expect it
Wait and see it will be electric

It will be (oh)
Wait and see
It will be when you least expect it
Electricity and then
Wait and see it'll be electric again

So patiently you'll have to wait and see
And all waiting will be well worth it I'm sure
And while you are waiting please remember me
And I guarantee it's going to be better than before

It will be
Wait and see
It will be when you least expect it
Wait and see it will be electric

It will be (oh)

Wait and see
It will be when you least expect it
Electricity and then
Wait and see it will be electric again

It's gonna be electric again
And it will be electric again
It will be electric again
