At first your only a whisper
In the back of the crowd
What used to be in the silence
Gets lost in sound
You're vying for my attention
I'll put my ear to the ground
Searching for some sort of clarity
Am I listening to loud

I don't want to be falling away
I don't want to be fading away
I'm reaching out so you'll find away
To save me

You are breaking the noise
And I start to hear your voice
And I'm left with no other choice
But to love you
I'm hanging on to every little word now

I've had enough of the chaos
Inside this audio cloud
I'm lost my sense of direction
And I'm fighting to get out
I hear your heart in the distance
A lover lost in the sound
Recalling some sort of a memory
And I know I'm found

You are breaking the noise
And I start to hear your voice
But to love you
I'm hanging on to every little word now
