Sunday

I woke up wrapped in gray there was something wrong something broken again into me it's nothin' new so many times I've fought in the flood but now I've learned to rise

So now

you tell me it's impossible to give a smile when your heart is broken cry and complain about the same things everyday you can pity yourself but I can see a new way Sometimes I deeply feel the pain I let it pushes me down then I close softly my eyes and I think 'bout my mistakes

Like a wonderful picture you've never seen before something's growing into you it's the feeling of reaction

Day by day

I'll try to be better step by step until I can for me For the people I love
day by day
until I can
