the metal jangles as the key turns unlock the door, wipe my feet clean oh my head sounds like that the oil is spitting in the saucepan i squeeze this sponge and let the cat out

oh my head
oh oh oh
oh oh oh

the waters dripping in the hallway the guy next door, he knocks his wall down

the knife it scrapes across the burnt brown toast the freight train rumbles pass my window
oh my head
oh oh oh
oh oh oh
oh oh oh

around the axis we all spin to determine whats left out and whats left in whats left out and whats left in

the moments come and go like water i try to hold them but theyre fading
oh my head
oh oh oh
