I'm walking downtown in the rain
I'll probably catch a cold or something
But it's my mumbling
That's got me more concerned
See I can't find the words to think
I'm holding on to memories
That have gone and left me
'Cause I can't focus on the now

It's always when I get this Nintendo,
Or when I find the right girl,
Or I used to be in great shape,
That are bearing down on me
So I close my eyes, I close my eyes
And I try to realize the power of now

Hold everything
This is a moment here
There's nothing that the
Past or the future can settle
The weight on my mind
Slowly lifts as I realize
The power of now
And I'm finally waiting
I'm waiting for nothing

I'd like to wear a Buddha smile
Find what it is that's worth my while
To ride some timelessness
Into a state of peace
But we're only less than holy
Wandering through these towns alone
I close my eyes, I try to fall into
The power of now
