Did you notice the knife
I just stuck in your back
Well Im sorry darling
But didn't you want it back
If were gonna play games
You better keep the score
Coz Ive got fifty-five reasons
To walk right out the door
What did you want from me
What did you want from me
What does anybody need
She said I need some justice boy
You broke this heart
I wanna make you bleed
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
That's her religion
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
That's her religion
Her religion
Did you notice the hand
I just struck on your head
Did you have a heart attack baby
Now are you dead
And if were still playing games
You better lock the doors
Ive had fifteen plus whiskeys
And yes I need some more
What did you want from me
What did you want from me
What does anybody need
She said I need some justice boy
You broke this heart
I wanna make you bleed
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
That's her religion

She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
That's her religion
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
She never smiles too much
That's her religion
She never smiles too much
That's her religion
She never smiles at me
Shell never smile at me
