Come i know where to go into your mind into your life we tried now in between just let it rain wash away the pain and blame just once again
to where it first began there may be permanent affections

And if it ends up with love i will fade until you make me know coming like a rainfall right over me and after the pain something new words still keep all i can read steady it grows don't deserve more get lost in touch time will have played shot the world away and blame come again

and this is how it goes Lyrics provided by

How i know it was right to fall i could have never said goodbye and i will love you for all my time it was the end of the edge so near so i went alone i'm coming home i could not hold it back just to see you again

and after the pain something new yeah
and after the pain something new ohhh after the pain something new
