Your talent is god sinned
These pleasure painted walls, forget them
You better wake up, wake up
There's things you need to know

Well, say that your minds made
So go on and be safe
You better wake up, wake up
There's things you need to know

Don't let, don't yeah
(Don't let on, don't let on)
Cast of the fallen
(Don't let on, don't let on)

Though, these eyes are wide, they're not awake
And though these arms are tied,
They just can't take what's thrown about
What's thrown around this place

Your talents are god sinned
These pleasure painted walls, forget them
You better wake up, wake up
There's things you need to know

Don't let, don't yeah
(Don't let on, don't let on)

Cast off, the fallen
(Don't let on, don't let on)
Things are holding you down, they're holding me down
Well I don't wanna talk about it
(Let on)

Let's arise and start complaining
Cos it's taking miles,
It's taking over, taking over
There too old and far too calling but the young are bold
It's all they got, it's all they got

Wait alone and hold back with them
'Cos they all know, they'll try regardless

And we'll get old and they'll get old and we'll get old
And you can too

But don't let, don't yeah
We are the foolish
Cast off the fallen
We are the foolish
Things are holding me down, they're holding you down
Well I don't wanna talk about it
(Let on)
