Come and burn us with your skin of fire
A permanent make-up, a lethal embrace
You hide an ocean in your hand
So let me pretend
To find my home again
To find my home again
With the love that you spit on the dusty ground
You could save all the world

It's no secret that
I'm a king without land
I'm a captain without sea
So let me pretend
To find my home again
With the love that you spit on the dusty ground
You could save all the world, you could save us
With the love that you spit on the dusty ground
You could save all the world
