Nothing was gained, nothing was recovered
call it blind luck, call it an accident
I came alone, you came alone & we left alone

Don't act surprised, don't act so naked I can't explain unspoken behavior don't act so broke, cause even words can be costly

I wasn't sure what you were trying days can be pure, nights can start lying but if you close the door & hide away crying
I'm kicking it down

If I run to you right now
will you let me or is it a game you're selling
my heartbeat's running
I just can't make up my mind

People hide, others come finding it's written somewhere, & written all the time you came alone, I came alone & we left together

Don't act surprised, don't be so taken with my old disguise, the new one's in the shop but if this thing gets busted, there's one more place we can go to

I wasn't sure just what you were trying
days can be pure, nights can start lying
but if you close the door & hide away crying
I'm kicking it down

my heartbeat's running
I just can't make up my mind
