Come and take my hand

So I can tell you something

Your time has come up now

This is your day of judgement

You've got to leave this world

Of eagerness and shame

And I will judge you

For your actions

I am your carma

I am your life

Good or evil you've got

To decide

I am your carma

Your destination

Reincarnation, your way of life

Look upon your life

Don't cover up the things you've done

Were they always good

Or did you perish for the evil one

For now there's no escape

You'll be judged here and today

And I will judge you
For your actions
For now it's time to leave
Your body far behind you
You've got to let things go
So your soul can be
Released too
In another time and world
But now I'll judge you
For your actions
