Walking down the path to nowhere
Reaching out along the winding stair
Even though you know there's nothing there.

You look for more without a clue
You look for more without a care.
'Til it becomes a nightmare.

Searching all the way to life's end
Alone, it is, to be the highest high
No matter how the quit, the hardest try.

You look for more without a clue
You look for more without a care.
'Til it becomes a nightmare.

I want you, I need you
It's always, time to fix
And I know, that I love
When I feel, you in me
I hold on, I hold on
Just barely, to life and
I want you, I need you
Oh god, please help me.

I want you, I need you
I know you, I love you
I hold you, I loathe you
I want you, I need you.

Broken down you pass beneath the light
Only time will tell the fate of fall
I knew you once before you turned away.

You look for more without a clue
You look for more without a care.
'Til it becomes a nightmare.
