Well it's time that you faced it
Things don't look so good
Cuz your life didn't work out
Like you thought that it would
So you gather the pieces
Pick them up off the floor
Throw them over your shoulder
And you cry out "no more!"
It's not whether you fall
It's whether you get up
The sun's in your eyes
But the wind's at you back now don't you cry
It's not where you are
Cuz it's in your power to change the stars
Now you find yourself
On another dead-end
Cuz you're making the same mistakes
And you haven't a friend
And you're looking for answers
But there's none to be found
Just open your heart up
This is hallowed ground
And you're seeking redemption
Well, don't look anymore
The sun's in your eyes
But the wind's at you back now don't you cry
It's not where you are
Cuz it's in your power to change the stars
