The leaves have all fallen
The sky's shedding tears
'Streets are all empty
The rain's all I hear
I know that there's things I should do but
I'll just stay in bed
I've searched for the silver lining
But it's gray instead
So maybe tomorrow
I'll learn from today
Then I'll be just a bit closer
Than yesterday
Some pages of my life
Are not written on
And sometimes it feels like forever
Till I'll see the dawn
But then I look back and remember
What's happened before
That when a door closes before me
I'll open one more
So maybe tomorrow
I'll learn from today
Then I'll be just a bit closer
Than yesterday
Can anyone tell me what truth is
Cuz I need to know
Just cuz you say you believe it
Don't make it so
Cuz you can be so sincere, but
Be sincerely wrong
Somewhere we threw out all reason
And logic is gone
So maybe tomorrow
We'll learn from today
Then we'll be just a bit closer
Than yesterday
