They were the picture perfect high school sweethearts
But he decided to move on with life
At first it seemed like nothing went wrong but she had gone
Right out of her mind

When he found out
It's what he said

"Let it go, don't you know
I never loved you
Just forget we ever met he
Said you're limerent"

And all the while she's in a nervous break down
But pretty soon sympathy had started to fade
A year had gone they'd all moved on but she still cried on
About him every day

She thought "was it something I did, was it something I said"
Ignore the consequence

It's just a dream, just a perfect nightmare
And she can't wake up oh
She can't wake up, no

Look for support in a masqueraded love affair
But she can't wait up oh
She can't wake up

When they found out
It's what they said

"Let it go, don't you know
I never loved you
Just forget we ever met he
Said you're limerent"

"Let it go, don't you know
I never loved you

Just forget we ever met he
Said you're limerent"

I never loved you from the start
(I never loved you)
Oh I never

Just go forget me like you should Although you said you never would Just say goodbye for good
For good

"Let it go, don't you know
I never loved you
Just forget we ever met he
Said you're limerent"

"Let it go, don't you know
I never loved you
Just forget we ever met he
Said you're limerent"

"Let it go, don't you know
I never loved you
Just forget we ever met he
(Said you're limerent)
I never loved you"
