To the fields where the blood of men flows.
Lightning strikes as swords sail and heads roll.
Many have fallen by the strength of my blade.
My rage is undying and my birth-right unclaimed.

Battles fought, under the mighty Oath.
Hammers high.
Kingdoms fall by our sword.
We praise the Gods.

Through the forest, to the village, to their homes.
None shall stop us in pursuit of the throne.
Adorned in armor and blessed with a bear's rage.
Blood bound by the Oath.

By bloodshed and sacrifice made.
Beside my brothers on a pagan crusade.
Standing on this newly claimed land.
Paved with our enemies, won by our hand.

Battles fought, under the mighty Oath.
Hammers high.
Kingdoms fall by our sword.
We praise the Gods.

To Fatherland with glory and gold.
Longships set sail as winds blow.
For ages these deeds shall be told.
Hail to warriors, mighty and bold.

Kill without conscience - Such is our Oath.
Kill without conscience - Such is our Oath.
