

Harry Manx "Your Eyes Have Seen"

Visit "Your Eyes Have Seen" on MotoLyrics.com

It's said the world is a tragedy for the one who feels

It's said the world is a comedy for the one who thinks

The depth of love is sweeter by far....when you share your dreams

Than all other pleasures of life really are That my eyes have seen

I think you'd smile if you could you cry just to feel good

Your eyes burn from the tears of a million nights All for the mercy of love and what it is to be

The tears speak volumes of ... What your eyes have seen

Feathered rain fell softly down upon our eyes Before we go under the heavy stone ... granting man his desires

All words need to yield to the heart Question not but live again

As we know not for sure but hope for the best of what our eyes have seen

Visit Harry Manx page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.