It rained
I went outside
Lay down in the middle of the road
Closed tight my eyes wondering just how it would feel
To fly when I die and I

Slowly drifted out
Of my body up into the clouds
Where I looked back down on all that I was
And I started to wonder what I'd miss
And I

Wished you were here
I wished you were here
I wished you were here
Cause I just don't think I'll ever get over you

Well the night shifted hues as I counted stars the way you taught me to
Shuffling through all of the faces
And the places in my life and I just

Kept on sinking in
Till I fell out of my skin plop
I tumbled into some kind of altered point of view
Where I could see clearly what I need
And I

Wished you were here
I wished you were here
I wished you were here
Cause I just don't think I'll ever
I could wait for you forever
Cause I just don't think I'll ever get over you
Over you
