you've got your orange tree and i've got this moon you've got me sleeping in the corner of your room you've got your music and four broken strings and I've got a heart much too heavy to sing

And I know happiness will never come
if you're too afraid to love someone
so let me in or let me out
I know what you're about
let me in or let me out
I'm going crazy now

You've got your window at the top of the hill
I've got all I need but i'm still not fulfilled You've got scars that you never ever show and I've got secrets, baby, that you'll never know

And I know happiness will never come if you're still holdin on to someone
so let me in or let me out
I know what you're about
let me in or let me out
I'm going crazy now
It's this not knowing that I can't take the inconsistency that keeps me awake and makes me break my own heart

I know happiness will never come
if you're too afraid to love someone
so let me in or let me out
I know what you're about
I know what you're about
let me in or let me out
I'm going crazy now
Let me in or let me out
let me in of let me out Let me in

You've got your orange tree and i've got the blues you've got your easy answers but I want the truth
