It's a beautiful day outside everything is OK and alright your smile is a vast contrast from the things we said last night
why did i say that line if i shut my mouth, we'd be fine i've got perfect hindsight in the daytime i'm starting to see that in a perfect situation, i'd be doing things much differently

i just thought i thought you should know i'm sitting by myself but i'm never alone in fact, i'm making myself heard i've found something louder than words would you believe that i am down and everyone in this town is just waiting to see offhand if i've got a plan to stick around they say actions speak louder than words so i don't blame you if you go by what you see instead of what you've heard i'll take a step away from entropy and take one towards who i need to be and overlook the past because i'm growing up so fast into a man that i am so scared to become cause everything i was, i'm now running from i'm never looking back no, i'm never looking back
