some say that this won't last some say that this is fake but they do not know you like i do they say we will never live to see another day they try to break us up/but it and working babe it's time to stand up united as one covered by the love of God we gonna make it last forever just you and me
forever just you and me ain't nothing and nobody going to tear us down and when our whole world starts falling apart we'll be there to catch each other when we fall
forever just you and me

i can't think of anyone else that i would want to be with other then you my baby...my precious baby this is the beginning of the rest of our lives together we can make it against all the odds the highs and the lows
we will stand tall together forever
forever just you and me
forever just you and me
forever just you...forever just you and me
forever just you and me
forever just you...forever just you and me
forever just you and me.
