There's a song inside of me
Inside my head
These words just come and go
And there's no way of telling
When it'll stop and where it will start

But I'm stuck here
Stuck here in this moment of confusion
Just trying to make sense of this mess
These words are all over the place
I'm stuck here
Stuck here in this moment of confusion

And I'm crying these lonely tears
At night
I lay my head back down on my pillow
Only to feel the pain growing stronger
The fears are growing stronger
I can't seem to keep my head held high

I'm feeling lonely
I'm upset with what's going on
I'm sitting here
Picking up the pieces of my broken heart
It's so excruciating
I can't handle it anymore

But I'm stuck here
Stuck here in this moment of confusion
Just trying to make sense of this mess
These words are all over the place
I'm stuck here
Stuck here in this moment of confusion
Here just tryin' to catch my breath
Trying not to sink
I don't want to crash and burn
I don't want to die

I just want to live my life
No frustration, no worries
But this pain is weighing me down
It feels like the weight of the world

Is on my shoulders

So I'm stuck here

Stuck here in this moment of confusion

Just trying to make sense of this mess

These words are all over the place

I'm stuck here

Stuck here in this moment of confusion
