i got alot of things on my mind i just got to let you know holding onto them isnt doing me any good anymore i need to get it all off my chest run through the open doors close them behind i need to get away from this place i am in right here run through the open doors and close the doors behind me full speed ahead never turn back never look back its time to let go of the past and look to the future you see ive been a prisoner of my own dreams for far too long but now im letting loose waving my hands up in the air and take a breath and breathe...breathe...breathe/breathe...breathe...breathe
