watch the king and the queen and the jesters and
people all waiting to see this kingdom burn down.
waiting for something to happen. wait with baited breath for the king and queen and the scent of their sex with the cameras all flashing. waiting for some kind of savior.

this poison apple.

see my world as its burning. wait and see she's never
returning.
see my world as its turning. wait and see she never
returning.

just remember my friend, when you meet a young girl with blue eyes and blond hair wearing a dress that's all pink with the faint scent of sex.

she was mine first.

see my world as its burning. wait and see she's never
returning.
see my world as its turning. wait and see she's never
returning.

watch the animals pretend to be people.
watch the people pretend to be animals.

see my world as it s burning. wait and see she's never
returning.
see my world as its turning. wait and see she's never
returning.

still i'm waiting patiently. not quite human but still me.
my new friends they take me away. a better place a brand new day. so i can't see your pretty face.
