Heaven opened up and dropped me. Always knew it wouldn't be so easy. Never had to move with way just reacting to every word you say. My halo's tarnished, my wings are burnt, another lesson I refused to learn. I had to build this up, so I could really feel the fall.

Heaven doesn't want me. She's the only one it sees. In heaven it's raining and this angel wont sing.

I don't know who I'll become. My wings couldn't spread for anyone. Now I need that serenity. A little piece to wash right over me. Heaven is all I see in you. A paradise I held on to. It's every time I didn't follow through. It's everything but all I need is you. Heaven doesn't want me. She's the only one it sees. In heaven it's raining and this angel wont sing.

Heaven won't keep me. She's the only one it needs. In heaven I'm fading and he wont lose sleep.
