Somewhere in time forgotten
I know, I lost the way
So many times there fading
I thought, I heard you say

Although, I've never met you
But I do know you well
Lay your head upon my pillow
And only time will tell

From another world
From another world

I will never go back
To waste another day
I wish, I was the last one
To live a life that way

And I have walked through madness
I burn with fear inside
Leave a candle in the window
And God knows, I have tried

From another world
From another world

Maybe someone's trying to take my life away
Maybe I just want to live 'cause I'm not crazy
And I will move another mountain, maybe

Maybe someone's trying to take my life away
Maybe I just want to live 'cause I'm not crazy
And I will move another mountain, maybe

If there's another lifetime
Where I don't have to hide
Leave a candle in the window
'Cause God knows, I have tried

From another world
From another world
From another world

From another world

From another world
God knows, I have tried
From another world

I wish, I was the last one
I burn with fear inside
(Another world)

From another world
(Another world, another world)
(Another world)
Another world
