All i want to do is sleep again. I want to close my eyes and drift to far off places that ive never seen.

Ive seen so many places and im tellin you, bring a jacket cause jupiter is cold. Bring your tanktops too cause its always summer on that red planet mars.

Im tellin you there are places we could see if we just let our minds wander free, and remember that its our
words that define us.

Im tellin you to play the hell out of that guitar cause gravity on the moon might steal your strings away. You know pluto might not be so forgiving.

Im tellin you there are places we could see if we just let
our minds wander free, and remember that its our
words that define us.

If we let our minds, they will show us these places on the backs of our eyelids. We just have to learn to sleep and let our minds wander.
