I shy away when i need her most
I move away, but she moves in close
I lay awake with her all up in my head
And when I'm done talking to myself
I might be able to get up and repeat what she just said

What she says is nothin'
Ain't nothin' but a lie
I was supposed to remember something
But I don't remember why

I should be asleep dreaming
But when she left me
She took the bed
My paper heart was a guitar string
And she played me to shreds

I close my eyes when I see her ghost
We part our ways when the summer goes

If I had piece of mind I would give it to you
It's the all you all you pretty pennies
Ain't worth any of my time, blues

I should be asleep dreaming
But when she left me
She took the bed
My paper heart was a guitar string
And she played me to shreds

If I can read your lips
I could taste your brain
I say breathe in the reggae
And exhale the pain

she played me to shreds
