I only been breaking down
Since I broke up with you
And I only wrote this song
Cause I just can't just get myself to say it to you
Excuse me, I'm mixed up here
Which way is back?
I just thought up all the ways to fix this up
But it's just attention that I lack

Broke all my mirrors
As if luck is a joke
Ya'll can smoke your superstitions
In the same pipe as your voodoo love

I can tell your drunk
By the way your staring endlessly
When the whole world's spinning round
I break it down for you slowly
I see you there
Tossing all your pennies down an empty wishing well
You know I see you all the time
And you never wish me well

Broke all my mirrors
As if luck is a joke
Y'all can smoke your superstitions
In the same pipe as your voodoo love

Couldn't find no marijuana
That's why I write the blues
But I won't be high and dry
After your the one I'm singin' this to
I see patterns of life
I see patterns on the wall
Under the microscope of life
I've found the solution to it all
We gotta send all the rich people to space
So we can rebuild the earth

Broke all my mirrors
As if luck is a joke
Y'all can smoke your superstitions

In the same pipe as your voodoo love
In the same pipe as your voodoo love
In the same pipe as your voodoo love...
