The slench in the air is cold as a winter night
The loss of my inner guest
The fallen star faded away...
Deeper, deeper I sink
into the embrace of sorrow
The winds of liars caresses me Down here in the crying valley of the dreamers Detest and yearning tears me apart
I can see the thousand points of light
up in the burning sky
And I knew: it has to be done...
The salt of anguish fills my bleeding veins
My heart is pierced by it's falseness Darkness...
The pride is defeated once again as I rise
I stand under a flaming sky
Deeper, deeper I sink
in hope to find the fallen star and the secrets of the northern lights Aurora Borealis, Stellae Trajectio take me
Never again...
Nothing forever...
I can see the thousand points of light
up in the burning sky
And I knew: it had to be done...
And it seems like I'm swallowed by it's mass of oblivion and forever to be in flames...
